

Crystal's Biography

Crystal started playing piano with her mother at two years plus and started formal piano classes at the age of five. She completed her grade eight piano practical examination at the age of eight and received her first Laureate at the age of ten. She was a Gold prize winner in two international music festivals and won first prize in two international music competitions and in one of them, she was awarded the Best Overall Romantic Award.

She enjoys performances and was invited to perform in The Japanese Embassy, Alliance Francaise de Singapour, Tan Tock Seng Hospital, Arts House, National Gallery, Esplanade Recital Hall, Yong Siew Toh Recital Hall and Carnegie Hall. Recently, she also performed with a cellist from America.

Writing music is also her passion and joy. She writes to make peace with the things she cannot control and she writes to create and discover a world beyond what her eyes could see. A quiet girl by nature, she writes to express thoughts and emotions when words could not express and music has been a great refuge for her. Her soulmate and greatest fan is her younger sister who enjoys playing her music compositions. Her dream is to publish a collection of her music compositions one day.

Apart from music, she loves art as it is therapeutic and nourishes her soul. She enjoys meaningful projects and has sold her paintings to raise funds for the quake victims in Japan and Straits Times Pocket Money Funds. She also exhibited her artworks in the Arts House Gallery , Sengkang Library and showcased her stop motion and time lapse animations in the Arts House's screening room.

She aspires to be a musician and music teacher when she grows up.
