

GWENDOLYN CHAN YU HUI

Gwendolyn is an eight-year-old Singaporean girl who loves the performing arts. Since she was five years old, she has shown interest and talent in music, ballet and loves to express her thoughts through her drawing and art works.

Last year, Gwendolyn represented her primary school in the East Zone Music Competition Junior category. Her calm and composed nature since her first piano performance at age five comes from her confidence and love for music. She is currently pursuing her ABRSM piano grade 5. She had also participated in several school performances, to share her love and joy for music with her peers.

In addition to music, Gwendolyn loves ballet, dance and art. She has completed her CSTD ballet primary grade with honors-plus, and RAD ballet grade 1 exam with distinction. This year, she represented her school in the recent Singapore Youth Festival International Dance 2018.

At age six, she was nominated by her art Teacher to join the VIRTUOSO Exhibition series created by Little Artists Art Studio for talented students of all ages to display their work in grand, public spaces at the Affordable Art Fair in April 2016. She was also invited to exhibit her art work at the 20th anniversary LAUREATES Exhibition at the National Gallery Singapore 3rd September 2017.
