

Caitlin Wong, 8 years old, from Singapore, has been taking vocal training with Teacher Grace Ng for about 1.5 years. Barely six months into her training, she made it to the finals of “Asian Dreamerz Kids” – a singing competition which required her to sing in two different languages. In 2017, she participated in the musical, “The Great Wall”, starring Singaporean singer and actor Nathan Hartono. She also participated in a charity musical, “Childaid 2017”, which was directed by renowned Singaporean musician Dick Lee, within the same year.

She was a Second Place Winner in the American Protégé International Vocal Competition 2017, where she performed solo at the winners recital held at the prestigious Carnegie Hall in New York. She recently achieved Bronze Award (Female Voice) for the Brilliant Talent Discovery Awards International Music Competition 2018. She was also awarded Third Place Winner (Vocal) for the Vienna Virtuoso Festival 2018 and will be performing at the winner’s recital held at Altes Rathaus Vienna in June 2018. Caitlin holds a grade 3 distinction certification in LCM Musical Theatre.
