

14-year-old Lauren is the youngest Singaporean to have ever won in the under 16 solo vocal category at the 70th Llangollen International Musical Eisteddfod in 2017.

She is also the only vocal winner in the junior solo category of the inaugural Singapore International Festival of Music Competition in 2017, first prize winner of the inaugural 2016 Singapore Lyric Opera-ASEAN junior Vocal Competition, only vocal finalist of the 2015 Symphony 924 Young Talents Project and champion of 2014 OKTO One Minute of Fame TV talent contest. She is also the first Singaporean to win first prize at the American Protégé International Voice Competition in New York in 2012, and was named the Best Performer at the winners' recital at Carnegie Hall, at the age of 9.

Lauren has performed as a soloist in many prestigious venues in Singapore, as well as internationally in China, Malaysia, Indonesia, Thailand, United States and Wales. On the concert stage, she has performed as a vocal soloist with the Singapore Chinese Orchestra, Singapore Lyric Opera, Orchestra of the Music Makers, NAFA Chinese Orchestra, KidsPhilharmonic@Sg and To Ensemble. She also plays the piano and violin. Outside the music world, Lauren's other interests include physics and mathematics.

She is currently under the tutelage of countertenor Mr Phua Ee Kia.